Help brings Hope

The intricacies of life can complicate any marriage and create tension. Without a clear vision, it's easy to feel confused, frustrated, and alone. The Weekend to Remember® marriage conference casts a vision of what it looks like to pursue a marriage that works.

This is not a one-size-fits-all conference. Couples can participate in individual projects throughout the weekend. These projects are specifically designed to facilitate deep discussions as the couple comes together to compare worksheets. Each couple can come away from the conference with three takeaway points to help them have a stronger, healthier marriage.

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

>>>>>>>>>>>>> ...of weekend to remember

We encourage you to take time to read through the FAQs even if you've previously been to a Weekend to Remember conference. A solid understanding of the Weekend to Remember will help you clearly answer any questions.

Q: Why choose FamilyLife's Weekend to Remember over another marriage conference?

A: FamilyLife's Weekend to Remember has been attended by more than a million couples during the past 30 years. This conference clearly communicates God's plan and purpose for bringing different people together in a covenant relationship. Together you will work through the unique threats to your relationship: communication, intimacy, resolving conflict, and leaving a legacy of a healthy marriage. Last year, more than 90,000 people across the country spent one weekend working on their marriages and walked away with a game plan to help their marriages last a lifetime.

Q: Can we bring children?

A: FamilyLife cares deeply about children. However, to keep your weekend free of distractions and as a courtesy to other participants, children (including nursing infants) are not allowed in any session. FamilyLife is unable to provide child care during the conference.

Q: Will I have to engage in group discussion?

A: There are no group settings in which you would be asked to comment on the conference content or your relationship. There is a "mock" small group session, but you are not required to reveal anything that might cause you to feel uncomfortable. Participation in this session is optional.

Q: Will I be required to participate in the projects with my spouse?

A: Completing the projects with your spouse is highly recommended and necessary in order to have the complete conference experience. We receive many comments from conference guests who say the projects were the best part of the conference.

Q: Can singles attend a Weekend to Remember?

A: Yes. In fact, there are two special breakout sessions for pre-marrieds. The conference will give pre-married couples a clear understanding of what a marriage commitment truly means and is a great foundation to start their marriage.

Q: I have been divorced. Will I feel uncomfortable?

A: No. We understand that divorce is a reality. We want to provide tools to make your current marriage relationship a strong, healthy, lasting one.

Q: We have a great marriage. Why should we go?

A: Congratulations! This weekend is designed to heighten even the best of marriages. Time and time again we hear of couples with great relationships who have attended the Weekend to Remember and say that it took their marriage to another level of oneness and intimacy. It also serves as a great reminder that you are God's gift to each other.

Q: We've been before; why should we go again?

A: Your marriage and family have changed since you last attended a Weekend to Remember. Come back and enjoy new speakers and fresh insights you may have missed at your first conference, time to relate to each other on a deeper level, and another exciting date night. You can never invest too much in the most important relationship on earth ... your marriage.

Q: Do I have to stay in the hotel?

A: Enhance your weekend and free yourself from everyday distractions by staying in the conference hotel. Treat yourselves to a private room for a more relaxing atmosphere that enables you to focus only on each other. Weekend to Remember conference guests receive a special discounted room rate.

Q: Are there additional costs associated with the weekend?

A: Your registration fee does not cover accommodations or meals. In addition, there may be parking charges and/or resort fees at the hotel. You may also choose to purchase resources during the weekend.

Q: What if I register and for some reason can't come? Can I get a refund?

A: If you cannot attend, you have the opportunity to transfer your registration to another conference or to another couple as a ministry opportunity—at no cost. However, if you are requesting a refund, the registration fee is refundable minus a $25 per person processing fee. Requests for transfer or refund must be received no later than 14 days after the conference you are registered to attend. For assistance with registration, cancellation, or a change in plans, call 1-800-FL-TODAY (358-6329).

Q: If we have more than one event in our area, can we register people for various events?

A: Yes. You can give anyone across the country your personal group name. They will receive the group discount rate if they register by at least 10 days prior to their event. Your group name is valid for 12 months from activation.

Q: Are scholarships available?

A: Yes. A limited number of scholarships are available to those who express financial need. Please call 1-800-FL-TODAY (358-6329), Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. (CST), for information.
